LAURIE MUTCHNIK MAURER, FAIA

Laurie Maurer is a partner in the firm of Maurer and Maurer Architects, located in Brooklyn Heights. The firm, a small office partnership which she started with her partner/husband about 40 years ago, concentrates on projects for end users, whether residential or commercial, who are interested in quality design.

After she graduated from Pratt Institute, and prior to starting her own firm, she worked for Philip Johnson as the first woman in the office where she worked on the Seagram Building. She also worked with Marcel Breuer's office.

Ms. Maurer has been active in the profession since her student days at Pratt Institute, when she was a founding member of AIAS (then called NASA). She has served with the AIA's National Board of Directors, chaired the AIA Affordable Housing Committee and the AIA Affirmative Action Committee. She was an AIA representative with the NAAB's Board of Directors. Ms. Maurer was an exam writer and grader for NCARB. A former Board Member of the New York State Board for Architecture, she continues to participate on its disciplinary panels. Laurie Maurer taught at Pratt Institute's School of Architecture and Department of Interior/Environmental Design. Over the years, Ms. Maurer has given numerous talks and participated on many juries and panels.
