

AIA New York Program Committee Selection Form

Please check the committee(s) in which you would like to participate.(rev 1/2022)

- | | | |
|--|--|--|
| <input type="radio"/> Architecture Dialogue
Formulates programs addressing architectural design issues, trends, and the state of architecture today. <input type="radio"/> Architecture for Education
Serves members primarily working on educational facilities to keep abreast of activity in the field. <input type="radio"/> Architecture for Justice
Serves members focused on the design of judicial, correctional, and law enforcement building types. <input type="radio"/> Building Codes
Addresses specific building department and code changes such as universal access, sustainability, and energy. <input type="radio"/> Building Science Committee
Promotes and encourages discussion on matters concerning building enclosures and the related building sciences. <input type="radio"/> Committee on the Environment
COTE helps architects develop an expertise on sustainable design and building technology issues. <input type="radio"/> Cultural Facilities
Encourages learning and participation in activities of museums, historic sites, libraries, performance spaces, and other cultural institutions. <input type="radio"/> Custom Residential Architects Network CRAN is a knowledge and networking community for AIA members whose practice includes residential architecture and residential interior design. <input type="radio"/> Design for Aging
Increases awareness of the needs of the urban elderly and to educates professionals to develop designs that accommodate those needs. | <input type="radio"/> Design for Health
Serves members concerned with all aspects of architects' responsibility in designing health facilities. <input type="radio"/> Design for Risk & Reconstruction
Dedicated to evaluating and expanding the design profession's role in this time of dramatic changes. <input type="radio"/> Diversity and Inclusion
Gives agency to issues of representation by dialogue and the development of action items. <input type="radio"/> Future of Practice
To assist the profession in proactively anticipating the impacts of new developments on the practice of architecture <input type="radio"/> Emerging New York Architects
For the interests and activities of associates and new architects. Collaborates on ARE and AXP related programming. <input type="radio"/> Global Dialogues
Works with international architects, universities, and others to promote dialogue between NYC and global design communities. <input type="radio"/> Historic Buildings
Monitors the Landmarks Preservation Commission, presents testimony, and arranges informational and technical meetings. <input type="radio"/> Housing
Examines housing production in terms of design, regulation constraints, and financing. <input type="radio"/> Interiors
Creates engaging programming such as lectures, symposia, and tours for architecture and interior design professionals. | <input type="radio"/> Marketing and Communications
Organizes programs to inform and assist members in marketing and public relations initiatives. <input type="radio"/> New Practices
Serves as a forum for exploring new and evolving models of architecture and design practices. <input type="radio"/> Planning and Urban Design
Works with agencies to review proposed Zoning Resolution changes and examines urban design issues. <input type="radio"/> Public Architecture
Organizes collaborations of architects employed in public agencies with those commissioned by the public sector. <input type="radio"/> Science and Research Facilities
Provides resources to design professionals involved in the planning and design of science and research (S&R) facilities. <input type="radio"/> Social Science and Architecture
Seeks to map new ground for novel collaborations between architects and practitioners and researchers of the social sciences. <input type="radio"/> Transportation & Infrastructure
Focuses on planning, architectural design, technical, and policy issues related to transportation and infrastructure. <input type="radio"/> Women in Architecture
Supports empowerment of women in the architecture profession through examples and achievements. |
|--|--|--|

Return this form to: Program and Event Coordinator, AIA New York, 536 LaGuardia Place, New York, NY 10012 Email: skaba@aiany.org | Fax: (212) 696-5022

Name: _____ AIA ID#: _____

Address: _____

Phone: _____ Fax: _____

Email: _____

Please check your member category:

- Architect/Fellow/Emeritus
- Associate
- Allied Professional
- Student
- Corresponding
- Corporate