Architects and landscape architects submitted 37 entries in five categories: Open Space, Planning, Projects, Structures, and Student Work; awards were conferred in all.

NEW YORK, NY, April 15, 2024 — AIA New York and ASLANY, alongside program partners ASLA Illinois and AIA Austin, are proud to announce the winners of the 2024 AIANY + ASLA-NY Transportation + Infrastructure Design Excellence Awards. Ten projects were selected by an independent jury of architects, landscape architects, and planners, with Best in Competition awarded to Kempegowda International Airport, Bengaluru – Terminal 2 in Bengaluru, India, by Skidmore, Owings & Merrill and Grant Associates.

The selected projects represent exceptional transportation and infrastructure work designed by registered architects, landscape architects, planners, and students. Each project was evaluated based on its commitment to sustainability, community engagement, and civic architecture.

Architects and landscape architects submitted 37 entries in five categories: Open Space, Planning, Projects, Structures, and Student Work; awards were conferred in all categories. Entries within those categories were eligible for recognition as Honors (the highest level of achievement), Merits (distinguished achievement), or Citations (exemplary achievement on specific project aspects).

Award recipients were announced and celebrated at the Winners' Event on Wednesday, April 10 at the Center for Architecture and on Zoom.
